Subject: Microsoft Settlement

As a computer professional, Microsoft's operating system monopoly has been the pain of my work for the last six years. I am elated that justice is being sought against them, but it is not justice for the guilty to determine the punishment. As a watch these proceedings, it has been clear that they hold the courts in contempt and have no interest in co-operating with the courts. The guilty should be punished for the gross irreparable harm they have caused the market and the consumer. The proposed settlement does not do this; it may even benefit the guilty party. Do NOT settle.
